HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 11.—Already dedicated anew to war with John L. Lewis' C. I. O., the American Federation of Labor annual convention today started grinding out legislative policies for the year to come.

Reports of the convention's resolutions committee ready for a vote today will virtually complete the broad outline of the federation's program for next year, and will reveal federation leadership as cool to the Roosevelt administration.

Labor Cautioned
A report of the committee cautioning labor to watch carefully administration of the new wage-hours act, and to realize that labor's non-partisan league was and is a part of the C. I. O., was prepared as the opener for today's session of the convention.

Late this afternoon, the committee was to lay before delegates for adoption a comprehensive summary of Roosevelt administration laws.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Tomorrow is Columbus Day and is observed as a legal holiday.

October's bright blue weather seems ideal for the business of the stock. If the number of children born in the Jameson Memorial hospital may be taken as an indication. So far in ten and a half days, 23 births have taken place at the hospital, which would indicate that there is no race suicide here.

Football playing on our public streets has been added to baseball and roller skating. It is hard to tell which is the most hazardous, but football seems to be the most popular method of courting death just at present. During the past few days Pa News has seen some very narrow escapes. In at least three instances motorists have had to stop their cars to prevent accidents. When children become engrossed in the game they are liable to forget the dangers. There are plenty of vacant lots where danger would be reduced to a minimum.

Pa News is not opposed to woman suffrage, but would like to see it demonstrated more forcibly in the selection of good men or women for office. Women in politics don't seem to purify the ballot like people had hoped.

Many motorists take the by-roads in their efforts to escape traffic while they enjoy the scenery at this particular season. Usually there is better scenery along these roads as there are more wooded sections than along main thoroughfares. The only trouble is that a great many get the same idea at once, and the by-roads are found to be quite busy places.

Some folks imagine that a chicken has no brains, and that if she has made up her mind to cross the road, that's what she is going to do. A local motorist, who has held this opinion, says that he is revising it.

Britain Moves To Crush Terrorism In Holy Land

By CHARLES A. SMITH

LONDON, Oct. 11.—Plans for partition of Palestine were pushed into the background today as Great Britain embarked upon a program of greater force to crush terrorism in the holy land.

Stern and productive action was the quick outcome of the London visit of Sir Harold MacMichael, high commissioner for Palestine.

Killing eleven Arabs, British troops reoccupied Bethlehem and Beersheba, which had been taken over by the Arabs. Conditions in those two towns, however, have thus far prevented restoration of civil services.

Send More Troops

Two more battalions of British troops are being rushed from Egypt to the holy land. The high commissioner will fly back to Jerusalem later this week to take personal charge of the new firm-handed policy of the English.

Troops now in Palestine or on their way there number 21,000, and Malcolm MacDonald, the colonial minister, and Sir Harold are discussing sending a still greater number of men, especially aviators.

The scheme of the royal commission to divide Palestine into three parts, Jewish and Arab states and a British corridor to Jerusalem will be discussed when parliament meets again November 1, but as a practical matter the plan is generally regarded as dead. Partition has the strong opposition of Zionists as well as Arabs.

While continuing to apply force, British authorities hoped that a peaceful gesture might come from the Arabs themselves.

Arab leaders, meeting in Cairo today, may come to London with an armistice proposal it was believed.

Battle In Progress

Haifa, Palestine, Oct. 11.—A heavy battle between British troops and Arabs went on all night around Buzza village, south of Haifa, authorities were advised today. Casualties were not stated.

The British forces were reported to be taking energetic punitive action against the Arabs in that sector.

Next Budget Message Will Forecast Deficit

By ERIC FRIEDHEIM

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—President Roosevelt's next budget message to congress in January again will be written in red ink, with the 1940 fiscal year deficit expected to border on the $3,000,000,000 mark.

This was the tentative and unofficial forecast of high financial authorities today as the treasury plunged into the task of framing next year's taxation and budgetary program.

At a White House conference yesterday, Budget Director Daniel W. Bell is reported to have informed Mr. Roosevelt that there is no hope for a balanced budget by the end of June, 1940, even if business accelerates to a boom-time pace.

Huge Commitments

Even if relief outlays are slashed materially after next June, equalizing of income and outgo will be impossible since the government has made huge commitments of funds during the present fiscal year. A sizeable portion of these funds will not flow out of the treasury until after July 1, 1939.

Major items in this category are allocations for public works projects and expenditures for national defense. Battleship construction already authorized by congress will call for large sums over the next two years.

Attending the White House conference in addition to Bell were Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau and Assistant Secretary John H. Hansen. The meeting was described by Morgenthau as preliminary in nature during which the subjects of taxes and budget requirements were canvassed in generalities.

While neither Morgenthau nor the other participants would go into details concerning the discussion, it is understood that no decision was reached on any specific tax measures.

Incense was at a premium today in the city building and persons who could, every few minutes, forage their duties and emerge into the outer air did so, all because of a skunk.

Yes, sir, a skunk, disrupted city hall duties today.

Here's the story:

Early this morning a skunk strolled into East street near the city police station.

Wayne Sines, acting sergeant and a hunter who knows skunks and their ways meandered to the animal. Although it may sound unbelievable the fact remains, he patted it just as though it were a cat.

Along came Officer Harry Reese. The skunk started to run. Harry believed the skunk was running away and struck it with a club. The skunk ran into the police patrol garage, and died.

British Author Is Not Admitted To United States

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—John Strachey, British author and lecturer on Communism, faced an immigration board of inquiry today to have it established formally that an American visa on his British passport has been cancelled, and therefore, he cannot enter the United States.

This was merely a formality because the state department already has voided Strachey's visa and his only hope of entering this country for a lecture tour is to have that body restore the document. Failing, he must return to England.

Strachey, against whom deportation proceedings were dropped in 1935 when he voluntarily left the country, was denied entry by Commissioner of Immigration Rudolph Reimer. The commissioner said Strachey possessed no visa and that the state department is not concerned about the author's views on Communism. Strachey denied he is a member of the Communist party, explaining "I am a Socialist."

Other Notables Aboard

The French liner Normandie, aboard which Strachey spent the night, brought several other notables to American shores.

No where could be found Countess Haugwitz-Reventlow, the former Barbara Hutton, who earlier had been reported aboard the Normandie bound for the United States in an attempt to regain her American citizenship.

Arturo Toscanini, noted orchestra conductor, recently involved in passport troubles in Italy, came here for a series of concert broadcasts. He looked himself in his cabin and returned unanswered a list of questions submitted by reporters.

William Bullitt, U. S. Ambassador to France, arrived for a "planned vacation" and lauded President Roosevelt's peace overtures to Adolf Hitler. He stated that the peace messages were received throughout Europe with "the greatest possible gratitude."

Advocating a united front of Democracies against dictators, Alexander Kerensky, premier of the Russian provincial government of 1917, arrived for a lecture tour.

Engineers Tour Universal Plant

(International News Service)

A party of 70 members and guests of the Mahoning-Shenango Valley Engineers' society last night inspected the plant of the Universal Sanitary Manufacturing company at New Castle Junction.

The plant tour, one of the most educational trips the society has enjoyed, took the place of the engineers' regular October program.

Plant Operating

For more than two hours the industrial leaders, many of them high-ranking executives of the district's plants, observed and studied the operations of the plant. The plant was operating on a busy night schedule.

W. Keith McAfee, president of the Universal company, and active leader of the engineers' organization, had arranged the tour. He was unable to be in the city last night, but William W. Wallace, Universal executive, served as tour chairman and greeted the visitors.

Chief of Police Ralph A. Criswell said today he believes there should be a campaign started here to catch skunks.

He believes that game protectors should place box-traps in different sections, because of the many skunks in the city.

Chief Criswell said reports had been received from sections of the city but says police cannot "curb" them.

According to persons who live on the outskirts and rural districts skunks are more numerous this year than for some years past.

Twins Offered For Adoption

Helene (left) and Patricia Mulcrone, of Marble Hall, Pa., 12-year-old twins have been offered for adoption by their father, who says he loves them so devotedly that he cannot bear the thought of his poverty robbing them of their girls. They are pretty, have rich contralto voices, can play piano, draw and dance.

Investigate Persons Offering Home To Twins

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Compelled by financial circumstances to offer his 12-year-old twin daughters for adoption, Joseph Mulcrone and the girls today interviewed persons desirous of giving them a home and an opportunity to develop their talents.

"The last thing in the world I want to do is to commercialize my babies," said the Marble Hall, Pa., widower. "A home with a woman or couple who will love them and be able to afford them lessons is what we hope for."

The girls, Patricia and Helene, dance, sing and play the piano, and Patricia displays a flair for drawing.

Offers to adopt the twins have come from many persons in New Jersey, and New York and its suburbs. Carmella Ponselle, noted opera singer, has offered to train the girls' voices but acceptance was deferred until foster parents are selected.

Patricia and Helene were thrilled by their first glimpse of New York. When they are not being presented to would-be adopters, the twins will be taken on sight-seeing tours.

Chinese Claim Great Victory

(International News Service)

SHANGHAI, Oct. 11.—Japanese official silence today tended to bear out Chinese reports of a tremendous victory—"greater than Taichang"—at Tolan, on the Nanchang railroad.

Chinese newspapers continued to place the Japanese losses at between 10,000 and 20,000 killed or wounded. Two whole brigades were practically wiped out when they were surrounded by Chinese forces between Tolan and Wuning, military headquarters at Hankow asserted.

The Tolan victory, strategists said, will enable the Chinese to stem the Japanese advance around Lake Poyang, designed to cut the Canton railroad at Nanchang.

State Of Nevada Picketed By C.I.O.

Surprise Move Develops Today

C. I. O. To Patrol Highways Declaring "Nevada Unfair to Labor"

FOLLOWS RECENT HIGHWAY TROUBLE

(International News Service) TRUCKEE, Cal., Oct. 11.—The C. I. O. today picketed the state of Nevada.

In a surprise move retaliating for erection of fortifications near Verdi, Nev., by deputy sheriffs to prevent California C. I. O. members from picketing a highway project, C. I. O. workers met at Truckee and decided to picket the entire state.

Union members, carrying banners reading "the state of Nevada is unfair to organized labor," will patrol highways leading into the state from California and Utah, it was announced.

The pickets will urge motorists to turn back.

C. I. O. unionists for two weeks have been attempting to establish picket lines about projects of the Isbell Brothers Construction Company which is engaged on road work in Washoe county, Nev.

Order March Halted

Refusal of authorities to allow this was climaxed Sunday night when District Attorney Ernest S. Brown and Sheriff Ray Root of Washoe county established 150 armed deputies at a bridge in Verdi with orders to halt a reported march of C. I. O. men from Truckee.

The army of deputies dispersed yesterday when the C. I. O. pickets failed to appear.

However, the affair had another aftermath. Marvin Willburn, employee at the Boca Dam in California, today had on file a suit for $25,000 damages against District Attorney Brown, charging Brown knocked him down Saturday morning.

The alleged assault occurred near the Verdi blockade. The suit, claiming malicious assault, was filed in Carson City, Nev., on behalf of Willburn by Leo Gallagher, C. I. O. attorney, of Los Angeles.

Plans for the Fine Arts Department were outlined by Mrs. Paul Howe, chairman of the Fine Arts Department of the State Federation, which will be carried out in music, art, drama, and literature during the year.

Mrs. Howe introduced Edward Spector, manager of the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra, who spoke on the work of a symphony orchestra and music appreciation.

Luncheon was served at 12:15 o'clock and the afternoon session will resume at two o'clock, with vocal numbers by Mrs. James W. Moorehead.

Following the introduction of the other state officers, Mrs. William E. Martindale, chairman of the legislative committee of the State Federation will discuss the federation's legislative program, and Dr. Vincent L. Marino, Inspector of the State Division of Narcotic Drug Control, will speak on the subject, "Ecstasy, Smoking Evil—Opium and Marijuana."

calling attention to an argument that the laws are far from perfect, and must be amended if labor is to get a fair break.

Plans for adoption of these resolutions were still overshadowed by the tumultuous session which placed the A. F. of L. on record as opposed to any union with the C. I. O. unless the C. I. O. throws out its chairman, John L. Lewis.

Assail Lewis Unions

A resolutions committee report assailing the Lewis unions in language almost unprecedented in the federation stood adopted this morning. In it, the A. F. of L. declared that it had made every effort to renew peace negotiations with the C. I. O., and had failed. The blame for these failures was laid squarely upon C. I. O. Chairman Lewis in speeches before convention delegates. Adoption of the committee resolution came only after Daniel J. Tobin, president of the teamsters, biggest union in the A. F. of L., pleaded with delegates to cast aside the committee report and adopt instead a program which would make the A. F. of L. executive council review pleas for peace with John L. Lewis.

The Tobin proposal dropped like a bomb into the federation convention, and got virtually no support in vote form. Tobin himself carried an invitation from the union chiefs and was advised that the time was not appropriate for adoption of such a measure.

Instead of adopting Tobin's suggestion, A. F. of L. leaders heeded the call of their resolutions committee, and adopted a program calling for continued opposition to the Lewis unions, and condemning them as honeycombed with communism. Until communistic leadership has been eliminated, said the report as adopted, there can be no peace between the two factions of organized labor.

It is worthy of note that very few of the drunken drivers who come from out local court stand trial. They know that there is an overwhelming public sentiment against drunken driving, and that there are likely to be some critical jurors, so they enter pleas and take their medicine, which is usually a fine and term in the county jail. All manner of pleas are presented when the offender comes up for sentence but they usually avail nothing. One usually feels sorry for the driver's family, but the driver himself is entitled to none.

We hear a lot of talk about the chances of employment shrinking for the middle-aged man. This does not appear to be the case, according to a nationwide check-up by a large insurance company. The analysis showed employment, unemployment and placement ratios between the age groups under and over 40 have remained stable since 1929. The same proportion has held among the men at work, those looking for work, and those absorbed by industry. The man over 40, by the figures of the survey is wanted by business sought by it and absorbed by it exactly as much as he was last year, or any year in the past eight.

Among the occupations that seem to be finding more adherents, is that of professional evangelist. Time was when the visit of an evangelist to New Castle was an event of such importance that a good turn-out was the rule at any meeting addressed. Now it has become so commonplace that there must be some special lure to the name, such as Cowboy Preacher, Reformed Gambler or Barber Evangelist, to draw a crowd. Not Resigning As Miners Head

There was a gasp in the crowd about Lewis. The C. I. O. leader, whose customary speech is virile, indeed, spoke in resigned tones. He was hurt, it appeared, by the vigor of the A. F. of L. resolution which had termed the C. I. O. movement as communistic and an enemy even to its friends.

Significantly, Lewis did not say that he would resign his presidency of the United Mine Workers of America, the 50,000 strong union which he headed within the A. F. of L., before the break-up of the two labor organizations. If Lewis remained in this post, he would thus still be a power within any single movement.

Tom J. Harper Dies Suddenly

Brief Illness Of Pneumonia Fatal To Former District Manager Of Telephone Company

Thomas J. Harper, General Directory Manager, Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania, Pittsburgh, died of pneumonia at his home in Pittsburgh at 1:30 o'clock Monday night. He had been ill for a day.

Mr. Harper was born in the old city of Allegheny, Pa., now Northside, Pittsburgh, in 1889. He was educated in the Allegheny high school, and graduated from Duff's Iron City college. He began his service with the Bell Telephone company in Pittsburgh in 1910.

On January 1, 1911, he came to New Castle as chief clerk and manager, remaining here until October 1912. Later he was located at Greensboro, N. C., and Uniontown, Pa., and served for a time as district manager at Warren, Pa., returning to New Castle as district manager on July 15, 1925, where he remained until March 1, 1928, when he was appointed general directory manager at Pittsburgh, in which capacity he continued until the time of his death.

Rubber Joints Improve Roads

Better Riding Comfort Is Provided By Removal Of Irregularities

By ROY E. BROWNMILLER

Secretary of Highways HARRISBURG, Oct. 11.—New riding comfort for motorists is provided by elimination of slight surface irregularities on concrete highways.

These improvements include a new compound for sealing expansion joints and use of machines which keep the finished surface within one-eighth inch of normal level.

The new joint-sealing compound which avoids unpleasant, though noisy, jars to vehicles crossing expansion joints, was recently discovered by the Highway Laboratory after extensive experiments.

Every motorist knows that in hot weather the ordinary bituminous sealing material is squeezed up from between the joints by expansion of the concrete, making a hump that jars the steering wheel.

Maintenance crews sent out to overcome this condition have been forced to shave off this excess material to afford temporary relief.

In cold weather, however, the condition is reversed, for the concrete contracts, the sealing material is drawn down into the joints and a depression results. The maintenance crews were forced to fill up these joints again; to the former condition arose as soon as warm weather arrived. It was a vicious—and costly—circle.

HOW TO BE SAFE FROM FIRE

THE common fire hazards, which the majority of people come in contact with continually in their everyday lives, cause most of the fires that bring so much suffering and loss of property. Accordingly a great service would be rendered to citizens everywhere, if they could be furnished with information that would enable them to avoid these fire dangers.

Suggestions selected by the National Board of Fire Underwriters are as follows:

Smoking in Bed Dangerous—It may result in a call for the undertaker! Sit up in a chair when you smoke. Always see that matches are cold before discarding them. Extinguish the butt, too, when you have finished. Keep an ash tray handy.

Death Is Near When You Clean With Gasoline—Hundreds of persons are killed annually attempting this dangerous practice. A tiny flame or spark—even from static electricity caused by rubbing cloth together—will ignite gasoline vapor. Play safe! Take your clothes to a cleaner.

Hot Ashes—Wood Barrels—Fire—A fire in your cellar from this combination is dangerous because flames quickly spread up through hollow walls. Use metal containers! Keep stoves and furnaces in good repair and be careful not to over-heat them.

Spontaneous Ignition Fires—Self-starters—Paint—oil-soaked rags heat up from chemical action burst into flames. Watch out after painting jobs! Oily dust cloths and mops are hazards. Unless they can be destroyed, they should be kept in closed metal containers.

Electric Fuses Are Safety Valves—They protect your house and family from possible damage and fire when wires are overloaded or a short circuit occurs. Don't put pennies behind blown fuses. Keep wiring in good repair and have all work done by an expert electrician.

Clean And Check-up Chimneys—Dirty, defective chimneys are one of the greatest causes of serious fires. You should clean soot out of chimneys and smokepipes every year. Then check them for cracks and holes. Have chimneys "pointed up" and pipes replaced if necessary.

Clear Out Papers And Rubbish—They accumulate in attics and cellars and cause serious fires. You may accidentally drop a lighted match or candle on them, or a hot coal from the furnace. Certain conditions may develop spontaneous ignition. It's safer to clear out all such accumulations.

TOMORROW IS COLUMBUS DAY

That morning when Christopher Columbus came in sight of land that turned out to be a continent until then unknown to the peoples of the Eastern Hemisphere—unless we recognize as history the traditions concerning earlier voyages of the Vikings—was a glad moment for the navigator. Many troubles dropped from his shoulders.

There be cynics among us who will say that at that moment began other troubles which now rest on our shoulders. But that is just wisecracking, and does not lessen one whit the achievement of the great Italian navigator who made his supreme effort under Spanish auspices. Human blessings are apt to be accompanied by human troubles. The latter may be the salt that savors the former.

Anyhow October 12 is Columbus Day. Four hundred and forty-six years ago land was sighted from the little ships that composed Columbus' fleet. This land is now the home of what many acclaim as the greatest nation in the world. Just what constitutes greatness may invite wide differences of opinion. However that may be, our observance of Columbus Day is a justifiable matter of pride with many of our citizens.

THE CRUCIAL ACCIDENT PERIOD

The automobile death and accident rate has shown a steady decline for a number of months. But now the crucial test period is at hand.

We are entering the most dangerous driving months. Fall brings rains, to be followed by the ice and snows of winter, all of which immeasurably increase driving hazards. Equally important, these seasons bring shorter days—and the accident rate at night, is much higher than in daylight.

The wise driver will prepare for this dangerous period. And preparation should take two forms. Put your car in first-class condition, so far as brakes, lights, tires and steering are concerned. And put yourself in the proper mental condition for safe driving. Never forget that the human element is the responsible factor in the great majority of accidents. Before anyone can drive safely, he must think safely. He must know the hazards he faces, and be prepared for them. This "safety consciousness" is the first and most vital essential of accident prevention.

Remember that chance-taking isn't clever. Any fool can push the throttle to the floorboards, pass on hills and curves, disregard adverse weather conditions, and perform similar acts of idiotic recklessness. Caution is the product of intelligence.

Drive safely all the time. And be especially careful in the fall and winter seasons. Then the accident rate will continue to go down.

REPORT EFFECT OF DULL SKIES

The human mind is subtly affected by cloudy skies. When the storms of winter come, people are apt to feel less hopeful. Some traveling salesmen remark that they can never sell much goods on a cloudy or stormy day. People seem to lack confidence.

The storms of winter may not seem necessary for our refreshment, but it is not for them, our water supplies would run dry, and our rivers would not turn their power wheels.

The wise philosopher is not much affected by weather. All kinds of skies look good to him. The artist eye sees beauty even when the sky is obscured by clouds. Sunshine is a wonderful thing, but if we had it every day, we should lose all sense of its beauty.

But if private enterprise—working and scheming to get on top—is wrong in business, why is it right in politics?

Meaning depends on the hearer. Your kindest remark seems nasty sarcasm to the fellow who doesn't like you, anyway.

An American is a good sport who won't hit you when you're down, unless you're a bankrupt property and he's the receiver.

A man without a country is in a bad fix; but a more tragic situation, when dictators threaten, is a country without a man.

There is little in the cry that Hollywood neglects its geniuses. If you have anything to give the film business, it works you to death.

We can't develop planes faster than we develop pilots, yet we keep trying to improve the world without improving people to run it.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

FOOTBALL PROBLEMS OF PARENTS

Many parents right now are concerned about football and their boy. Some don't want their boy to play this game. Perhaps they have anxiety about his physical safety—and there are hazards, to be sure. A few parents dread the probable cost for medical and hospital care. But contrary to the parents' wishes some boys play anyway. Result—parent-child conflicts.

Many parents, however, are eager to have their boy make the team, even the scrubs. They enjoy the glory his participation brings them. Moreover, they believe that football educates in good qualities of character.

Not a few parents of boys who play football believe, however, that these boys are under too great physical and nervous strain; that a few coaches put too high pressure on winning, being willing even to compromise on a moral issue for a victory.

There are some local and state systems of public education, and some private and public colleges and universities, which require that students who participate in vigorous athletic contests be frequently and properly checked by medical experts; and a few parents have the family doctor make such checks. But all too many public and private schools and colleges do not guarantee this protection.

Some Questions
Should not the high school, boarding school, college or university assume financial liability for injury or death of any student playing or practicing on any of its football teams?

Are the enormous funds spent on school and college stadiums justified? Should football contests between junior high schools be permitted? Are such contests between high schools of different communities justified? Are these proper functions of the college and university?

Since there is so much under-cover hiring of college students to play football, would it not be a good thing if the college were to hire professional football players who would not be permitted to register as students?

Should a football coach be paid more than a teacher of algebra or professor of economics? Is it profitable indispensable to good coaching? Shall we hold the school and college authorities responsible for the excesses incident to football? Or shall we place the blame on the public, many of whom are parents?

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THE "MORAVIANS"

Pennsylvania and Lawrence County have a particular interest in Czechoslovakia.

The people of this newly created nation occupied that part of the Austrian-Hungarian Empire and Germany known as Moravia, Bohemia and Slovakia. In the early years, Bohemia and Moravia were settled by Slavic people, known as Czechs, coming out of the East and Germanic tribes coming out of the West. The Czechs were a backward people. The Germans were a forward lot and it was German intelligence and German ingenuity that made use of the natural resources of Bohemia and Moravia.

The religious views of these people were for the most part dominated by the Roman Catholic Church, but out of the Reformation came a sect known as the Moravians. John Huss was the notable leader of these people. Their purposes were to colonize in various parts of the world where they might practice the rights of their religion without interference, and in the course of events these colonists came to Pennsylvania. The largest colony located near Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, and there is now at Bethlehem a Moravian church still standing, built in 1803. A small colony came to Lawrence County and located on the Beaver River, the town of Moravia. I do not know whether any descendants of that colony are now living in or about Moravia, but there probably are, and of course, they would view today with mixed feelings, what is going on in Czechoslovakia.

Incidentally, out of this people, came Dvorak. He was a Czech and his musical soul and his musical education was pure Germanic. It is very unfortunate that the Treaty of Versailles attempted to remap Europe. There is more dynamism in that Treaty than has yet been discovered. There was absolutely no excuse for dismembering the Austrian-Hungarian Empire. The Allies had better have established collectors in their tax offices and customs and collected a war debt than attempt what they did.

HINTS and DINTS

Sun sets tonight 5:28; sun rises tomorrow 6:07.

An honest newspaper tries in every way to protect the citizens and it also tries to protect the merchants from unfair competition. The News has always tried to do that very thing.

A local man said yesterday that we might ask Mussolini to send the Jewish people he don't want in his country over here and we could give him an equal number of people from this country that might suit him better.

SECRET LAUGHTER

She did not speak to him for thirty years. Though blood of both from one good father came; Nor did she cross his threshold in that time. And scoffed at every mention of his name.

Then Death, with secret laughter, struck her down. Laughed at the heart so swept by bitter flood. And knew he'd lay the brother at her side. With blood roses minding blood to bleed.

What would you do if you met a wild lion on the street, or in fact anywhere? Yes, we would climb the nearest tree or telephone pole also.

POPULAR DRIVER, TOO

The motor car people swear that the horse and buggy days are gone forever, and they have distinguished authority in support of the allegation.

But just the same, Christmas week is one where a sleigh drawn by a flock of four-footed animals is the most popular thing we know of.

Yes, sir; the English should stand firm and save freedom, no matter what it costs. We'll do the cheering.

VISIONS OF LIFE

How little would we know of life if things were always bright; as often through the storm and strife a soul is led to light; there never was a budding flower to fade on winter's wing, but bloomed again in freshening shower, in early hours of spring; there never sank a soul so low in snow of winter time but has the power again to glow in life's own sunny clime; we never knew a heart so true as one that throbbed in woe, then felt the thrill of life anew because God made it so; and after all, the trials we bear are sweet in later years; just like the flowers in mountain air, they're cleansed again by tears; the one comes from the clouds above in freshening April rain—and one comes through the power of love—that life may bloom again.

A great many people do not announce their marriage for several days after the event. Some even wait until there is an increase in the family. The new marriage license law makes it hard for newspapers to get accounts of marriages unless they are notified in some way.

Isn't it a little funny? If you tell them that there are 270,878,834, 241 start in the universe, they'll believe you. Gnocheff—Yes, but if a sign says "Fresh Paint" most of those seeing it will make a personal investigation.

It is declared in Washington that the German American Bund and the Ku Klux Klan are working hand in hand in some parts of this country. Both of these organizations must have made some changes in their by-laws.

NOT GUILTY

The judge was examining a witness who had talked with a man accused of stealing a cow. "He said he took the pie," testified the witness.

"Now let's get this cleared up," said the judge. "Exactly what did he say? Did he say 'I took the pie'?"

"Oh, no, judge," said the shocked witness. "He said he took it. He didn't even mention your name."

About 81,000 federal workers will have to take the civil service tests in Washington before February 1. Those failing in the tests below 70 will be dismissed unless their superior specifically requests their retention. Why have any tests at all?

Mr. Hitler just dearly loves to be cheered and hied as a hero. What a bump that bid will get some day.

Watch out! Better drink the rest of that tea before you take a bath in it.

Now for the poached egg on toast—nice crisp toast. There really should be some way to anchor the toast to the plate, so it would not take a flying leap every time you press your knife down to cut it.

Thumb your fingers, perhaps, or maybe glue would be better.

Oh, well, you'll soon be sitting up; then you won't be so awkward. Till then just stoke up the best you can, and he glad there is no one to observe your one-arm performance in a hospital bed—Contrary Mary.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1938 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

The Germans are dashing up and down the Maginot line with radio trucks, blasting at the ramparts with canned fire-and-brimstone speeches by little Doc Goebbels, taunts to the feeble and decaying democracies, execrations of Czechoslovakia and devastating belches of "Deutschland Ueber Alles" and "Horst Wessel." It is an interesting idea, blowing down fortresses in this way, but not new.

"So the people shouted when the priests blew with the trumpets; and it came to pass, when the people heard the sound of the trumpet, and the people shouted with a great shout, that the wall fell down flat, so that the people went up into the city, every man straight before him, and they took the city."

There is no doubt that, before launching its attack, the German high command studied the record of how Joshua blew down the walls of Jericho. It is perhaps tactless to bring it up here, but there is a disquieting fact to be noted. The Nazis are following a precedent which is entirely non-Aryan. It looks as if somebody might get into trouble if the word of this gets to Berchtesgaden.

However, the Nazi trumpeters have another strictly Aryan precedent that may give them an edge. Their ancient, soundly Aryan gods of the Wiltensagot used to settle their intra-mural quarrels by mountain-top yelling contests. Then they would call each other all the names they could think of, with all their lung power. Officials scored not only the quality and originality of the invective, but the carrying power of the voice. Listeners were stationed far down the valley, getting the voice range as they do in our hog-calling contests. The loudest yell, providing the name-calling was up to the league average, got the decision.

It sounds like a rather good idea. The French, too, are pretty good in encounters of this kind, which fact will be attested by anyone who ever got into an argument over a bill with a testy old concierge. If they moved a similar number of sound trucks up to the Maginot line and started blasting at the Germans, the decision to go to the most resourceful and most intemperate, and if they just let it go at that, it might provide one of those substitutes for war, which preoccupied the late William James.

Our country editors of an earlier day used to work off a lot of steam, usually harmlessly, in this way. "That ill-begotten so-and-so who infests the office of the so-called newspaper down the street had better get a pair of kick-proof pants if he comes around this dought."

"My, but old Dan is a powerful writer," the readers would say and one editor or the other would win in a bloodless contest. Small boys, in those days, too, used to get things off their chests. We used to draw a line and challenge the other chap to cross it, perhaps hoping desperately that he wouldn't, especially if he were a size or two bigger. One thing I remember. The real fight usually started without any wind-up. Somebody socked somebody and the battle was on. The long-drawn-out bawling match usually faded out with school teacher or the big sister grabbing the boys by the scruff of the neck and marching them home.

I hate to correct a possibly wrong impression. I thoroughly agree with the prevailing praise for Neville Chamberlain's temperate speech as contrasted with the angry outbursts of Mr. Hitler. Of course there can be no serious defense of anger and intemperance in international discussions. What I had in mind was the fact that there is a lot of talk, even foolish and ill-tempered talk, it is a sure sign that the contenders aren't really yearning for any close-in rock-and-sock battling.

We once had a merry little tangle in our family who was good at throwing a bluff. He got away with murder, backing down big and ferocious dogs. Once the dog and I encountered a police dog as big as a Shetland pony in a neighbor's yard. The big dog woofed and started toward us. My dog ducked in between my legs, scared stiff. The other dog came bounding toward us and then stopped suddenly. We saw he was tied with a long chain. My little dog stepped right up to the chain and called him a big clumsy tramp and said he was going to tear his ears off.

Is this strictly a canine or is it human behavior?

Power Of PUC Is Limited By Court Decision

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 11.—The Public Utility Commission today was forbidden by a three-judge United States statutory court from ordering temporary power and light reductions pending establishment of new permanent rates.

In a decision written by Circuit Court Judge J. Warren Davis, the jurist declared a portion of the new state public utility law unconstitutional. It annulled a P.U.C. order of last November 30, which directed the Edison Light and Power Company of York to reduce rates by 30 percent to its 28,651 customers.

The score of the decision, concurred in by Judges Joseph Buffington and Oliver E. Dickinson, was being debated by legal experts. Public Utility Commissioner Richard J. Beamish asserted the ruling applied only to the York case, but Judge Davis was quoted as saying he believed all such temporary rate reductions by the commission were affected.

Resume Probe Of Graft Charges

House Graft Committee Apparently On Congenial Footing After Clashes

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Oct. 11.—With opposing members of the House Graft committee apparently on congenial footing, temporarily at least, the committee today was scheduled to resume taking on testimony on alleged irregularities in the erection of the $5,000,000 State Finance building.

Holding their first session since Friday when Rep. Ellwood J. Turner, R., Delaware, threatened to resign from the committee because of a motion he charged was made to "see" him in examination of witnesses, committee members yesterday afternoon made no reference to the dispute.

Attorney Albert Thomas, one of the committee counsel, who had declared, during Turner's criticism of his method of questioning, that he would consider it a favor if he were asked to quit, was absent yesterday, however, as was Rep. Joseph Ommisky, D., Philadelphia, who moved that Turner's "speeches for posterity" be stricken from the records. Committee Chairman Herbert B. Cohen was emphatic, however, in stating that Thomas' absence did not mean that the attorney had carried out his threat to quit.

Miss Lois Chaddock sang several vocal numbers. Miss Jane Gilmore directed an old fashioned sing. Joseph Martin, Audley Snyder and Lawrence Kim-Inken favored the group by instrumental numbers. A question bee was then conducted, and last of all a auction sale which brought many laughs to the crowd. The committee then served refreshments in buffet style. 5:30 p. m.—Roll call.
6:45 p. m.—Parade through streets of district. Refreshments at hall after parade.
7 p. m.—Band concert and speech by A. Flala.
10 p. m.—Fireworks display.

General committee in charge of all the details for the celebration was announced as follows by Thomas DeVivo, president:

Lunch was served at the close by the hostesses. On November 14 the society will meet in the home of Mrs. Robert Stewart, North Liberty street. Mrs. Ben Harlan will be co-hostess of that occasion.

News of interest to railroaders in the district and other old time residents is that Peter Jensen, a former resident of the Seventh ward, has been pensioned by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

Senior Christian Endeavor Society Plans For "He Had A Past"

Practices for "He Had A Past" a short playlet to be presented by the Senior Christian Endeavor Society of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church in the church, on November 5 and 6, at 8 o'clock, have been started.

Plans for the play and selection of characters was made at a meeting of the group held in the church Saturday night. Mrs. Virginia Cook Brown will be the director of the play.

Following persons will comprise the cast: Geraldine Wensbaker, Kenneth Evans, Beatrice Drummer, Ruth Green, Jack Case, Virginia Drummer, Harold Parker, Lenora Cherry, Jane Bollinger, Jean Hamilton and Thos. Schenck.

Several truck loads of large sewer pipe were taken through the Seventh ward Monday afternoon, headed toward the West.

First official fire drill this year for the Mahoning Junior high school was held Monday afternoon. Taking advantage of the fine weather, the school was emptied of students within a very short time after the alarm was sounded.

Improvements in the form of a small retaining wall are being made beside the office of Alderman T. C. Rainey, North Liberty street. This wall will tend to keep rain water from running into the cellar of the building.

Next opponent for the Mahoning Junior high school football squad will be George Washington Junior high school. These two teams will meet Friday afternoon, October 14, at the Mahoningtown field, for what promises to be an exciting game.

To Relieve a Cold Is Not Enough

Father John's Medicine Not Only Helps Break Up Colds, But Builds Up The Body—84 Years In Use. It Must Be Good.

The underlying, basic cause of colds is low vitality—a weakened system which must be nourished. This is exactly what Father John's Medicine does. It is not "just another cold remedy". It contains healthful ingredients which build up the body and help to renew its vitality.

Father John's Medicine was prescribed for the Reverend Father John O'Brien of Lowell, Mass., in 1853, and has been used for 84 years as a treatment for colds and coughs due to colds, and also as a proven body builder.

Prisoner Has Gone Insane At Alcatraz

James C. Lucas, Swaggering
Texas Badman, Babbles
In His Cell

(Copyright, 1938)
(International News Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 11.—James C. Lucas, swaggering Texas bank robber, slasher of Al "Scarface" Capone, and now awaiting trial for the murder of an Alcatraz guard, has gone mad within the confines of "America's Devil's Island," his attorney claimed today.
Like the notorious prisoner he slashed because he believed Capone had told prison officials that Lucas was the leader of the 1935 Alcatraz mutiny, the 26-year-old desperado sits on the cot of his lonely solitary cell and babbles incoherently, according to Harold C. Faulkner, defense attorney.
A federal district court will be asked to order appointment of psychiatrists to determine Lucas' exact mental condition, Faulkner said.
Vicious Convict.
Since his incarceration in Alcatraz soon after the prison opened, the Texas robber has been "one of our most vicious convicts," Warden James A. Johnston declared.
Johnston refused to confirm or deny reports of Lucas' insanity.
Lucas is awaiting trial for murder of R. C. Cline, senior custodial officer at the prison, last May 23.
With Thomas Limerick and Rufus Franklin, Lucas is accused of slugging Cline, in the woodworking shop of the prison, climbing to the roof of the building and attempting to gain control of a guard tower.
Limerick was killed in the break. Franklin was wounded and Lucas was overpowered by guards. Cline died two days later.
Lucas is serving 30 years for bank robbery and violation of the Dyer act, and is wanted in Texas for escape, assault to commit murder and bank robbery.

In the estate of the late James Mehard of Wayne township, in which a rule had been granted upon heirs to accept or refuse property at the appraisal, no bids were offered when the case came up at court. An order of sale was then made by Judge Brahm.

Lario Nesci, 35, has presented a petition in court, asking that he be allowed to change his name to Larry Nash. His reason is that his real name is hard to pronounce and spell. He has been going under the name of Larry Nash for some time. Judge Brahm fixed October 23 as a time for hearing any objections.

County commissioners were at Hillsville yesterday on matters connected with the settling of damage claims for property taken by the building of the new road. Nearly all of the claims have been settled, but there are at least two that are likely to be heard in court.

Sixty-three instruments of all kinds were entered at the office of Register and Recorder, Orville Potter last week. Of this number 36 were deeds and eighteen mortgages. Building and loans led in the amount of money loaned, there being ten loans, totaling $22,850. There were five loans, totaling $4,940 to individuals, two, totaling $6,120 to the Home Owners Loan Corporation and one to a bank for $5500. The Home Owners loan mortgages were taken on properties which the corporation had re-sold.

Rush of fall work was responsible for an unusual number of excuses by those called as jurors this week. Those who were excused were as follows: Phillip Benninghoff, Third ward; Robert Dickey, Neshannock township; C. H. Drake, Bessmer; Clare C. Duff, Second ward; Ralph Goodard, Pulaski township; Robert Hamilton, Second ward; James McAnlis, Wampum; Russell F. McConnell, Fourth ward; Alex McKim, North Beaver township; Robert Myers, Slippery Rock; Charles Snyder, Big Beaver township; Elmer E. Stetler, North Beaver township; John Vance, Big Beaver township; Fred E. Woods, Second ward and Edward Zook, Wilmington township.

was only due to the fact that the number of cases to be heard this week is not large, that so many could be excused.

As soon as Registration Clerk Thomas Edmunds has completed tabulating the registrations during the past week, work of preparing the street lists will begin. These lists give the name and address of the registrant, also his party affiliation. They are of use chiefly to the politicians who usually begin a systematic check up of the voters as soon as they get the street lists. Formerly candidates had to prepare their own street lists, but this cost them money, so they had an act passed by the legislature saddling the expense on taxpayers. The lists are printed on a mimeograph at the registration bureau.

The following delinquent taxes have been collected and distributed to the districts indicated: Big Beaver school district, $19.25; road, $2.62. Hickory township, school, $167.26; road, $51.86. Little Beaver township, school, $1.22; road, $19.27. Mahoning township, school, $302; road, $82.01. Neshannock, school, $224.85; road, $78.34. North Beaver, school, $12.68; road, $4.10. Steel Operations Reach New High

New High For Year 48.5 Per Cent Reached By U. S. Steel

(International News Service)
CLEVELAND, Oct. 11.—Steel operations last week continued the upswing which started during the summer and reached a new high for the year of 48.5 per cent, the magazine Steel reported.
The rise in demand has resulted more in the release of old orders than in the placing of new, excepting for some track material buying, Steel said.
Belief in the strength of the recent recovery was backed by the fact that there was only a slight lull produced by the European war scare and that continuation of the previous rise was prompt, the magazine stated.
Increase in the requirements of the automotive industry contributed largely to the rise, with building work and miscellaneous consumers giving substantial support. Increased demand was expected.

Change In Political Campaign Strategy Revealed This Fall

Both Parties To Follow New Lines

Flying Squadrons Of Speakers From Other States To Be Missing

NEW ANGLES TO YEAR'S CAMPAIGN

By ARTHUR HACHTEN
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

(Copyright, 1933)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—President Roosevelt's efforts to drive conservatives out of the Democratic party have caused a major change in campaign strategy by both the Democratic and Republican national committees, leaders disclosed today.

Where in past national elections, flying squadrons of speakers toured the nation for each party, this year there will be very few "invasions" by prominent persons into states where they do not vote.

Decline To Go On Tours.

Already Senators Pat Harrison (D) of Mississippi and Joseph O'Mahoney (D) of Wyoming have declined to go on speaking tours. They were said to have declined because they are members of the senate's special campaign investigating committee.

Since there are few states in which no charges of corruption or misuse of the WPA for Democratic campaign purposes were made, Harrison and O'Mahoney were said to feel they, as committee members passing up on these charges, should not deliver speeches for candidates who possibly might be involved.

With the president drawing a sharp line between conservatives and liberals and task of getting capable speakers for the senatorial campaign has been the Democratic senatorial campaign committee a tough problem.

In states where liberals are the Democratic nominees, senators of similar political affiliation are to be sent to make speeches. Generally, conservatives will campaign for conservatives, all under the broad title of Democrats.

Barkley To Speak.

Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic senate leader, has been booked to speak not only for conservative but for liberal candidates as well. With rumblings of a drive to oust him as a majority leader of the senate, Barkley was said to have won friends in the hostile Democratic camps by promising to campaign for all wings of the party with equal enthusiasm.

Barkley is up for re-election this year but he having won renomination in an overwhelmingly Democratic state with the active support of President Roosevelt, "Dear Alben" has indicated he will make speeches in Pennsylvania, Illinois and Iowa for his party's senatorial nominees in those states.

Senator Schwellenbach (D) of Washington, an ardent New Dealer, will campaign in South Dakota for Tom Berry and in Wisconsin for Senator F. Ryan Duffy, who is being hard pressed by Progressive and Republican opposition.

Also slated to go into Wisconsin was Senator Sherman Minton (D) of Indiana. Minton will speak in South Dakota, too. Senator Hill (D) of Alabama has been scheduled to speak for the re-election of Senator McGill in Kansas, and for Berry's election in South Dakota.

The Republican senatorial campaign committee was devoting its efforts chiefly to organization work, with unusually meagre efforts to line up speakers to comb the country.

Insurgents Make Further Gains In Ebro River Area

(International News Service)
KENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Border, Oct. 11.—Still further advances on the Catalonian Ebro river's blood-soaked battlefield were claimed by the Spanish Insurgents Monday as outside moves to terminate the Civil War brought no abatement in the fighting.

An insurgent communique issued at Salamanca stated that Generalissimo Francisco Franco's lines in the Ebro sector were advanced "considerably" and that several government-held positions were captured.

The government also claimed that six insurgent planes were shot down in three air battles fought over the Ebro river battlefield.

Two British ships, the Gothic and the Bramhill, were damaged and a number of government towns were bombed in a new series of insurgent air raids over the week-end, Barcelona charged.

A report from Madrid said six persons were killed there and 21 wounded when five insurgent planes raided and bombed Port Agualas, where a hospital and several buildings were destroyed.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK—
Maybe Roosevelt's purge plan was smart. Every time he made a conservative mad, two radicals loved him more.

Chest Essay Contest Ends Wednesday Night

The essays being written in the New Castle Community Chest prize essay contest must be handed in not later than Wednesday, October 12, to the teacher of the contestants home room, in order that they may be collected for the judging committee, according to an announcement from the Chest headquarters.

Thousands of pupils in the public schools of New Castle together with the pupils of the county high schools have been busy writing essays to win one of the cash prizes being offered.

A total of $60 in prizes will be distributed. Each group of the 7th, 8th and 9th grades will have a first prize of $5.00, second prize, $3.00 and third prize of $2.00. In the senior high school the prizes are first prize, $7.50, second prize $5.00 and third prize $2.50. This same prize set up will be awarded to the winners in the county high schools. In this arrangement each grade competes only against pupils of the same grade in their own and other schools.

The judging of the essays will be made carefully by a committee selected from the Lawrence County Federation of Women's Clubs. Announcements of awards will come after due consideration of the judges whose decisions will be final. It is also the intention of the publicity committee of the New Castle Community Chest to publish some of the outstanding winning essays in The News at a later date.

Find Much Wild Life Short Distance From City

Persons do not have to wander far from their home surroundings to find wild life.

A few afternoons ago, N. R. Cassella, of Winter avenue, "phoned Owen Fox, asking him if he would care to go along to see some wonderful wild life. So they drove north of the city for about four miles, in the vicinity of the Greer stock farm.

There they came upon a woods comprised of a large variety of trees including gum, beech, dogwood, and hawthorne, one of them a monster symmetrical dogwood, about 35 feet high.

At this spot, the wooded section was open, and the setting sun, shining through the haze, cast shadows from the mighty white oaks far into the woods, making a scene of enchantment. While enjoying this beauty, they saw one lone wild duck winging through the tree foliage, soon to be followed by two and three, and within five minutes time they were winning by the dozens.

Amazed by this unusual appearance of such a large number of ducks in this upland woods, an investigation was in order. Upon walking toward the spots where they had flown low, they were found to be feeding on the acorns of the white oak.

This was Mr. Cassella's second visit to this location that day, having previously been there about 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon, when he found a wealth of bird lore feeding on the berries of the gum and hawthorne trees. He decided to tell Mr. Fox of his find, so that they might both share in the scene. The bird life that he saw in this homey woods consisted of finches, blue birds, robins, veronies, and wood thrush, and the reason for the appearance of these birds in the woods was the beautiful banquet nature had provided for them, truly a bird feeding paradise.

Bird life was not the only visitor to this woods. A grumpy ground hog was watched with much interest, as it sat on a knoll, with his back to the glorious sunset, eating a lunch.

Rabbits could also be heard, as their feet pounded the earth in long jumps. Soon a skunk came lumbering along, his body rolling, bent on investigating the two strange creatures who were invading his wild domain. As night approached, the fox squirrel barked his protest and warning, as he sensed the presence of this night hunting prowler.

One of the main reasons for this article, is to advise the nature loving public, that they do not have to travel far to find interesting wild life, and also that Pennsylvania can not be surpassed for natural beauty.

Council Approves Mayor's Expense

Council on Monday informed Mayor Charles E. McGrath that they would approve his expense account for a trip to Harrisburg last week.

The mayor had no time to call council together for authorization to make the trip prior to leaving with John B. Shaw.

While there Shaw and Mayor McGrath secured favorable action looking toward the paving of Taylor and other streets on a proposed new route to the East Side, hence his colleagues willingness to approve whatever expense he incurred.

Coyote Captured In Ridgway Area

(International News Service)
RIDGWAY, Pa., Oct. 11.—A strange animal, in captivity, was game refuge in the Allegheny National Forest 12 miles west of Ridgway Monday was identified by Major T. H. Bliss of Ridgway as a pure bred coyote.

Major Bliss, a former resident of Montana, and an experienced hunter, said he was at a loss to explain how the animal migrated to this section. It is believed to be the first coyote identified in this state.

AROUND CITY HALL

During council meeting Monday, Director of Finance J. L. Link reported to colleagues he had approved a coal contract, whereby the city will buy its annual supply from Maxwell & Gibson at a cost of $3.90 per ton, pursuant to the award of a low bid recently. The colleagues voted approval.

Sadie Patterson, Children's Aid society, in a letter to council, reported that Cottage street is in a poor condition.

Council on Monday ordered $1,192 aid to Leo Fortunato and Andy Noera, for land acquired by the city for the purpose of improving Neal street, which will be part of a new traffic route from South Jefferson street to Butler avenue. It is said the state will pave the route which will divert considerable traffic from the Public Square through East Washington street to Butler avenue.

Exonerate Church Of Paving Cost

Council on Monday voted to accept the recommendation of Solicitor William G. Cobau that no action be taken to collect $77.97, from the Emmanuel Baptist church, costs for paving Reynolds street.

Thomas Jones of the church wrote council that the church had objected to the payment and had not signed in favor of paving. Further, he said the property abutting the paving, is used for religious purposes.

Cobau informed council that in his opinion the church would be exempt from the assessment, hence a motion was submitted by Councilman W. H. Dunlap, instructing that the city treasurer be requested not to press for settlement.

Price Changes Are Comparatively Small However As Market Firms Up

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer
NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The stock market firmed today although price changes in most instances were comparatively small.

Steels, motors, rails and rubbers were prominent on the recovery movement. Merchandising shares, mail orders and rail equipments also recovered initial losses, but oils and chemicals lagged.

Included among the representative stocks to substitute modest gains for similar first-hour declines were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Montgomery Ward, Macdonald, N. Y. Central, Santa Fe, Airline, U. S. Rubber and Douglas Aircraft. Johns-Manville converted a point loss into an equal gain.

Left continued its spectacular performance, spurring 2 1/2 points to a new high of 8 1/2 before profit-taking halved the gain.

Commodities were quiet. Grains slipped irregularly lower, but cotton climbed about 25 cents a bale. Copper futures continued to gain ground in the minor staples. Bonds were quiet.

Foreign security markets were quieter and steady today. European currencies rallied some from the preceding day's weakness.

The boys, Showalter said, admitted they robbed the warehouse of Fisher's Big Store, 924 North Cedar street, of a mattress, card tables, a blanket and a bow and arrow.

City To Learn Operating Cost Of All Equipment

Following a suggestion by Controller Sid Lockley that an individual cost sheet be kept for each major piece in the city, council said that was ordered two years ago, then learned it has not been carried out.

Councilman W. H. Dunlap said he had no prior knowledge that all major apparatus was to be lettered and numbered as city property but would favor such a move immediately.

Some of the apparatus is not lettered and numbered. However, J. M. Rice, public safety director, promised to have the work done and from now on a cost sheet for each piece of equipment will be kept.

The police department, it was explained by Mayor Charles E. McGrath has been following out the instruction given in council two years ago.

Hereafter, other departments kept the equipment cost in bulk.

Fire Prevention Week Being Observed Here

Current week is being observed by the New Castle Association of Insurance agents as Fire Prevention week and according to a request made by Mayor Charles A. McGrath citizens also are asked to observe the week as such. The fire loss annually in the nation is $300,000,000, with a cost of 10,000 lives.

Urges Teachers To Make Education Of Pupils Interesting

Must Be Able To Make Dry Subjects More Vital To Students

(International News Service)

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Oct. 11.—A plea for educational administrators to find teachers who are able to make the dry bones of material living and vital to students was voiced by Dr. Julian L. Codrington, of Harvard University, at the 59th Founder's Day exercises of Lehigh University recently. His subject was "The Science of Education and the Art of Teaching."

"The vital thing is to find the teacher who, through his broad and deep grasp of his subject and his personality, is enabled to make what he teaches living to his pupils . . . to see in science not a catalogue of names or general processes, but man's attempt to make a coherent and logical picture of his environment and to use that environment to his purposes. To see in history not a succession of dynasties or constitutions or battles, but the long struggle of humanity to emerge from barbarism to civilization."

Dr. Codrington said that interest in education is an excellent yardstick to gauge the state of development of any civilization. "This being so," he remarked, "it is curious to note that although we consider education supremely significant, most of us are singularly little occupied with the professional preparation of those to whom we commit this vitally important function."

Ordinance Conforms With Utilities Law

Council adopted an amendment to an ordinance Monday concerning the surrender by the New Castle Street Electric Railway company of its Croton Avenue line franchise and rights.

The city has joined with the street car company in an application for the company to abandon the street car service and substitute motor bus passenger service.

Hutchison Wins From Moran In Thrilling Bout

Moran Drops Babe In First But Loses Three Round Decision

BILLY SHARP WINS FROM TOMMY MURRAY

RESULTS LAST NIGHT
Halbert Brooks, New Castle, defeated Ted Bodnar, Youngstown, three rounds, 145 pounds.
Al Peterson, East Liverpool, defeated Al Perone, Winton, W. Va., three rounds, 120 pounds.
Earl Donaldson, Youngstown, defeated Paul Schwartz, Youngstown, three rounds, 135 pounds.
Luke Smith, Follansbee, defeated Joe Biro, Youngstown, heavyweights, three rounds.
Harry Bonar, Chicago, defeated "Chuck" Arkett, West Pittsburg, three rounds, 135 pounds.
Babe Hutchison, East Liverpool, defeated Frankie Moran, New Castle, three rounds, 126 pounds.
Billy Sharp, Winton, defeated Tommy Murray, Follansbee, three rounds, 124 pounds.
Joe Gaynor, Bethany college, defeated Jack Virgelli, Butler, three rounds, middleweights.

Defeated but not disgraced is what can be said of Frankie Moran, the local featherweight who dropped a three-round decision to Babe Hutchison, nimble-footed, ambidextrous-handed East Liverpool 126-pounder in the arena last night. It was one of the best fights yet seen in amateur circles here. Hutchison was awarded the Perelman watch and Moran received the leather pocketbook, key ring set.

Expecting for the first round, Hutchison was out in front of Moran throughout the fight. After Hutchison led in the first part of the opening round, Moran flashed, came back hard and dropped Hutchison for a count of nine. In the second and third they staggered each other time and again with socks to the head and with hands helped to cost Moran the decision was his lack of hitting distance.

Although the Jack Virgelli, Butler, Joe Gaynor, Bethany college, bout occupied the "main spot," it would have been sixth and Moran and Hutchison should have drawn the limelight. Virgelli and Gaynor couldn't do anything effective against each other. Their styles were similar and there was no exciting action in the fight, excepting toward the end of the round. Gaynor drew the nod. They are middleweights.

pounds. Bonar had a shade in science but Arkett was the more aggressive and suffer puncher. Arkett was leathery Bonar in a neutral corner in the third when the round ended. Both judges voted for Bonar. Referee McMahon's vote favored Arkett.

The Luke Smith, Follansbee, Joe Biro, Youngstown, heavyweight battle was a battle all the way with Smith winning the decision. Smith fired straight rights and lefts to Biro's head while Biro threw a looping right at Smith's head. Smith has a tissue-paper stomach and had Biro landed there solidly he might have wakened. Smith and paved a way for a weakening shot to the jaw. However, it was a good fight. Smith stood a head taller than Biro and outreached him.

Billy Sharp, Winton, W. Va., proved too classy and smart for Tommy Murray of Follansbee and won the three-round award at 124 pounds. There was no question as to a winner.

Brooks Wins Again
Paul Schwartz, Youngstown, lost a three-round award to Earl Donaldson, Youngstown, at 135 pounds. It was a good fight. The fans did not like the award.

Halbert Brooks, New Castle, and Ted Bodnar, Youngstown, battled like lions for three rounds. Brooks was floored in the second and he sent Bodnar down in the third. Brooks received the verdict after the judges split.

The judges last night were Beaver Dowell of Chester, W. Va., and Charles West of Ellwood City. Tom McMahon was the third man in the ring and Carl Gialella kept time.

There were about 1,000 fans at the fight, many of them having journeyed to the Jefferson A. C. fight offering for the first time. Another fight show will be staged next Monday night.

There will be no meeting of the Lawrence County Sportsman's Association tonight. However, the meeting will be held one week from tonight.

Frankie Moran, local scrapper, defeated by Babe Hutchison, East Liverpool, last night will take a rest for a time to permit his fractured nose to heal.

One of the best bouts that could be arranged would be a Babe Hutchison-Smokey Moran scrap. Whether or not Babe's sharp left would be too long and fast for Smokey remains a question until they fight.

Har-Brack Power May Halt Streak Of 'Red Hurricane'

Har-Brack Will Bring Undeclared And High Scoring Team Here On Friday

New Castle Will Get Real Testing, Har-Brack Confident Of Victory Here

New Castle High School "Red Hurricane" football team is in for a very lovely evening, come this Friday and if you can believe what you hear in Har-Brack or Tarentum, you can rest assured that the New Castle winning streak is going to be dust bitten around 10 or 10:30 o'clock Friday night under the mazzas at Taggart Stadium.

In other words Har-Brack High is sending a team here Friday that is crammed full of power. Crammed full of deception and crammed full of touchdowns that they hope to loosen all around the field.

Have Great Team
Undeclared and untied Har-Brack will bring a trio of backfield men to New Castle that will dazzle the fans. To quote Scout Bill Klee, assistant coach here: "This Har-Brack team is every bit as good as Massillon or Sharon and can those babies in the backfield Klemzka, Hightower and Campbell go places and do things with that old piece of pig-skin."

Last week Har-Brack tackled a 38 to 0 defeat on Kittanning High and the week previous walloped the daylights out of a fast Ford City High team 53 to 6. They also trampled Butler High 19 to 0, the same score that New Castle topped Butler by.

Lots Of Scoring
If the fans like to see lots of scoring, they will get their moneys worth on Friday night. One touchdown may not win the game this week.

Head coach Phil Bridenbaugh took an extra hitch in his belt and said "well boys we got a ght on our hands this week, let's get busy" and busy they got Monday afternoon at the field, and when Har-Brack makes its appearance here Friday night they will find a "Red Hurricane" ready and waiting. For what may happen and from this seat dear readers it looks as if there is going to be a lot of football played Friday night, so you better plan to be there. Get your seats early.

Faculty Manager Norman "Scouts" Nelson said today, "We are prepared to handle another big crowd on Friday, and we look for about a 1,000 or more from Har-Brack, because they are honestly coming here with the idea that they can take New Castle over."

Rambling Around World Of Sports

Hats off to Ellwood! Following that well-known gridiron adage... 11 athletes molded into a solid unit... spell nothing but success... Ellwood Brown has leaped in the scholastic football picture.

So far five opponents have hit the resin, most of them by decisive counts... Butler the latest foe, went down 33-6 Saturday... Wesleyville, Monaca, Wellsville and Rochester are the others who fell along the wayside... Midland is next in line.

October 22, this being one of the toughest assignments on Ellwood's bill-of-lare.

The team contains 11 sturdy lads who click as a unit... Bob Miller and Cunningham do well at ends; Bartle and Farkas handle the tackle berths in remarkable style; Fish-loneri is the third member of the family to take over the center berth; Biggins and Keller fill in the guard gaps... Keller is a tower of strength, taking a hand in practically every play during a game.

Frank Kolke is blocking quarterback; Tommy Jones and Jack Snare at halfbacks; and Dick Newton at full complete the Tubers' crack gridiron machine... The reserves are strong, which doesn't hurt a bit.

Sport shorts... Several of baseball's higher-ups are launching a campaign which may make Babe Ruth the generalissimo of the St. Louis Browns... Detroit Tech is the only team in Michigan to travel by boat for one of its grid games this fall... Tech crossed the pond to battle John Carroll... Lockleys Work Hard This Week

The Lockley football team is working hard this week to perfect a defense to stop the fast Keystone A. C. team on this coming Sunday. Coach Mike DeCarbo will give the team a workout every night this week at 5:30 o'clock at Lockley field.

The "Locks" looked impressive in the opening battle of the year when they topped Ryantown 13 to 0. One feature of the Lockley-Ryantown game was the fine manner in which the fans observed the ground rules at the field and stayed off the playing field.

Did you know?... Tony Lazzeri is probably the only major leaguer to appear in two consecutive world series as a member of a different club... A player must have 400 hits at the plate before he can become batting champ of the American League... Called for jury duty last week, a gent in Omaha, Neb., showed a ticket for the world series and was excused.

Now that we have fully recovered from the effects of an overdose of "spirits of ammonia" following Saturday's hectic grid parade, we'll check up our score... We "tried" to pick 'em right in 80 ball games... We did all right in 49 tussles, missed out on nine, while two other sets were ties... So far this season we have picked correctly 83 out of 102 games, not including five ties... The betting average... 833... Salahi! Salahi!

Gabby Hartnett Will Talk Trade

Will Keep Dean, Bryant, Lee And Stan Hack, Rest May Go Elsewhere

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—Looking forward to the winter trading season, Gabby Hartnett, manager of the hapless Chicago Cubs today hoped to assemble a brand new ball club for the opening of the 1939 pennant race.

Hartnett still seemed a bit dazed at the tremendous drubbing his National League champions suffered in the world's series with the New York Yanks, but he said he had no illusions about the strength of the Cubs.

"It's bad enough when a club doesn't get base hits with men on the bases," he declared. "It's worse when you can't even get a fly ball with a man on third waiting to score. That's the way we were most all of the season. We hit into too many double plays. What we have to have is somebody who can at least hit the ball beyond the infield. Even a man with a light batting average should be able to do that much."

"We won the pennant but there will have to be a lot of changes. With a few exceptions the entire Cub team is on the block. There are four men I am going to keep. They are Hack, Bryant, Lee and Dean."

"I include Dean in this group because I believe the big fellow can come back. Of course, as he is now, I'd have trouble getting anything in a deal for him. Nobody wants him."

Three men in a room, so how about ventilation? One wants the windows open. Another wants them closed. The third is indifferent and refuses to bother about it. Some people will sit around a stuffy room oblivious to the stale air.

To others, second-hand, devitalized air is offensive and sickening. Outdoors one involuntarily takes deeper breaths. Indoors we breathe superficially—and often bad air. Ventilation is a rather important adjunct to good health. The oxidizing processes of the body need fresh air. There is a zestful tone to fresh air. With cold weather coming, ventilation is vital.

Mussolini Wants Italian-British 'Lasting Peace'

Plan To Withdraw Troops From Spain Not Part Of Recent Anglo-Italian Accord

(International News Service)
ROME, Oct. 11.—Premier Mussolini revealed today that his "unilateral" withdrawal of Italian troops from Spain is entirely independent of the current Anglo-Italian negotiations and constitutes merely a voluntary gesture to help put the Anglo-Italian friendship pact into effect.

Informazione Diplomatica, organ of the foreign office, declared: "In responsible Roman circles it is held that once this non-symbolic and effective repatriation of Italian volunteers is carried out, Italy does not intend to do anything more unilaterally."

Friendship Agreements
A communique published by Informazione said it was hoped Italy's withdrawal move would "furnish Britain with the occasion to give effect to those accords of April 18 which already for too many months have been lying in the foreign archives." It was added:

"If this occurs, all the better." The Italian-British friendship agreement, among other things, calls for British recognition of Italy's conquest of Ethiopia. Mussolini's flat assertion that Italy will make no further "unilateral" concessions regarding Spain was interpreted in political quarters as an indication that Anglo-Italian negotiations have again struck a serious snag. It was said to be now clear that Italy expected Britain to make the next move.

Postpone Action On Fireworks Bill

Measure Placed On Postponed Calendar By Action Of House Last Night

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Oct. 11.—Uncertainty today clouded the question of recessing or adjourning the legislature. The Senate voted at a caucus to meet again next week, but its decision was tentative pending a possible caucus today of the House, where there was considerable sentiment for at least a one-week recess.

On report was that members of the House wished to recess until October 24, meet that night and then recess until after election. A definite decision was to be reached today.

The House today was to vote finally on the bill of Senator Leo C. Mundy, (D.) Luzerne, abating tax penalties and interest. The measure has already passed the Senate, though concurrence to minor House amendments is necessary before the bill can go to the governor. An amendment offered in the House last night by Rep. T. Jay Sprout, (R.) Delaware, to give municipal subdivisions the option of granting abatements, was voted down, 43 to 122.

Party lines were split on the question of placing a bill to regulate the sale of fireworks on the postponed calendar. A motion by Rep. Herbert B. Cohen, York, Democratic floor leader, to postpone action was finally passed over the opposition of Rep. Paul C. Lewis, (D.), Philadelphia, and Rep. John J. McDewitt, (R.), Philadelphia.

Two school bills in which the Amish farmers of Lancaster county have been vitally interested were defeated in the House last night. One would have given the governor permission to establish independent school districts and the other would have permitted children of 14 to quit school for farm or domestic work.
